About the Doctor

Dr. Harris Rotman is a native of Memphis, Tennessee. Both he and Superman were born in Cleveland, Ohio in 1938. He moved to Memphis when he was 2 years old. He went school in Memphis from Kindergarten through medical school. He grew up in Memphis during the 50's where Rock 'n Roll was born and if his mother hadn't made him take piano lessons instead of guitar lessons he might have been a Rock 'n Roll star instead of a Dermatologist like his Famous Memphis contemporary, Elvis Presley.

After Graduating medical school in 1962 he decided to visit his birthplace, Cleveland, Ohio to intern at Mt. Sinai Hospital. While taking care of a patient who almost died of "Poison Ivy" Dr. Rotman began his life long love affair with Dermatology. He went on to a residency in Dermatology at Case Western University Hospitals and became amazed by the techniques that could transform damaged skin back to healthy skin.

From 1967 - 1969 Dr. Rotman had a great adventure in Dermatology in Norfolk and Portsmouth Virginia Navel Hospitals treating military and civilian patients who had contracted various rare and intriguing skin diseases in the jungles of Vietnam. In 1968 Dr. Rotman became a Board Certified Dermatologist.

In 1969 Dr. Rotman began his private practice of Dermatology in Houston, Texas and has remained there ever since. Dr. Rotman has taken training in Dermatological Surgery for 30 years. He uses numerous surgical techniques to improve damaged skin.

Dr. Rotman is a member of numerous medical groups and is Board Certified in Dermatology.
